Spartasoft Studio is a tightknit group of talented gamers, designers, developers, and artists, working together to show the gaming world what students are capable of.

Spartasoft Studio is focused on the journey, not the destination. Spartasoft Studio is run solely by students at Michigan State University who prides themselves on teaching their members. Our team picks members who are hungry to enter the industry, not by their skill level. Spartasoft Studio members learn high-level techniques and knowledge in their specialized field, and the workload process involved in achieving our goals as a team. SPS pushes interactions between teams in the studio to provide students an experience like private game studios. Involvement in Spartasoft Studios is a great way to build a portfolio and gain experience in the field.
